DETAILED ACTION

RE: Bystyrn Jean Claude

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-2, and 4, drawn to a polyvalent vaccine comprising melanoma-associated cell surface antigens, classified in class 530, subclass 300, for example.
 - II. Claims 3, and 5-9, drawn to a method of treating a human melanoma comprising the administration of a polyvalent vaccine of group I, classified in class 424, subclass 184.1, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the method of treating a human melanoma can be accomplished using a tumor specific antibody that recognizes a specific antigen located on the surface of the melanoma cell or tumor.
3. Searching the inventions of Groups I and II together would impose serious search burden. The inventions of Groups I and II have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classifications. Moreover, in the instant case, the search for the polyvalent vaccines, which comprise antigens derived from melanoma cells and the method of treating comprising the administration of the melanoma associated antigen are not coextensive. Group I encompasses molecules which are claimed in of protein structure and defined by amino acids, which are not required for the search of Group II. In contrast, the search for group II would require a text search for the method of administering the vaccine of group I for the purposes of treating a melanoma patient. Prior art which teaches an antigen of polyvalent vaccine comprising the melanoma associated antigen of group I would not necessarily be applicable to the method of using the polyvalent vaccine. Moreover, even if the product were known, the method of treating using the product may be novel and unobvious in view of the preamble or active steps.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, and the search required for each group is not required for the other groups because each group requires a different non-patent literature search due to each group comprising different products and/or method steps, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
